Dear Pastors and Faithful of the Archdiocese of Saint Boniface,

By this letter, I wish to make it known to all in the Archdiocese of Saint Boniface that I personally, along with the Diocesan Pastoral Team, wholeheartedly endorse and support the various efforts of the Catholic School of Evangelization taken on by its Board, Executive Director and staff, as well as by its numerous volunteers.

Over the years, the summer and winter camps have offered a very rich experience to the many young people who have attended. Providing the opportunity for children and teenagers to grow in their Catholic faith within the context of making friends and having fun with other young people, these camps are a wonderful example of the kind of evangelization needed at this time in our Church. Through learning, sharing, praying together, the youth are brought closer to Christ, to the Church and to one another.

The relaunch of the Discipleship Formation Program is very encouraging. These young adults living together in community at the CSE Campus will pursue studies towards a mature enlightened knowledge of the Catholic faith and will grow together in a deeper personal relationship with Jesus Christ through prayer, listening to the Word of God, faith sharing and liturgy. They will also be involved in various outreach activities throughout the parishes, schools, and youth ministry initiatives within our archdiocese and beyond.

In all these ways they will grow as adult disciples of Jesus and embrace their missionary mandate to reach out to the world with the Good News of Jesus Christ.

The Archdiocese of Saint Boniface is being greatly enriched by this Christian formation offered to all ages. Thus, it is in a spirit of collaboration and partnership that I ask God the Father to abundantly shower the CSE with all his blessings. I encourage all the clergy and faithful to pray for CSE and to support it in many ways.

Sincerely in Christ,

Archbishop Albert LeGatt
Archdiocese of Saint Boniface
